

“So You Want to be a Nurse” Workshops for current UNF students available through the Academic Center for Excellence

The Academic Center for Excellence (ACE) will host the School of Nursing's presentation of “So You Want to be a Nurse” as a workshop on selected dates this fall semester. Each session can accommodate 10 attendees. This session will provide the same information to attendees as the workshop of the same name that is hosted in the School of Nursing four times each year; however, the workshops through ACE are specifically for UNF students. Registration occurs through the Academic Center for Excellence webpage following the directions included here. Registration issues should be addressed directly with ACE and not with the School of Nursing. Non-UNF students should register for the traditional offering of this program via the UNF School of Nursing webpage.
