

UNF Community Outreach Council Survey

Outreach programs and service projects are a vital component of UNF's commitment to involvement in the Jacksonville community and the Northeast Florida region. Community outreach service projects undertaken by both students and faculty constitute an important part of UNF's social role. While numerous programs and projects are undertaken each year, there is currently no comprehensive index of all the work being done. In an attempt to document the community outreach and service projects undertaken by UNF faculty, staff and students, the UNF Community Outreach Council is asking departments and student organizations to complete this short survey. Your participation is greatly appreciated and will allow for all of your group's efforts to be better celebrated and elaborations of this work to be promoted. Please fill in the following items:

- What community outreach service projects has your department (or units within your department) undertaken within the last two years?
- What was the name of the community outreach program or service project?
- What was the purpose of the program or project?
- Who was involved in the program or project? (Name of the group or individual who was involved)
- What was/is the projected duration of the project?
- Please provide contact information for the faculty supervisor or the individual who was the facilitator of the project or program.
