Issue U. S. News and World Report Rankings

Proposed Action Discussion

Background Information

Each year, the U.S. News and World Report puts out a ranking of colleges and universities. Reputations of universities are frequently reported based on these rankings. Often, students selecting schools that best fit their needs will also turn to these rankings. The University felt it was important that members of the Educational Policy Committee be updated on UNF's performance in specific elements of this ranking system.
