July 17, 2003

Issue: Athletic Training Education Program

Proposed action: Approval

Background information:

The Athletic Training Education Program is already an established track in the Bachelor of Science in Health Major offered by the College of Health. In accordance with the Joint Committee on Athletic Training Education Programs (JRC-AT), the national accrediting body, this degree must be offered as a stand alone major in order to retain accreditation. The dean of the college, the UNF Faculty Association, the Provost, and Interim President Kline have approved the creation of a new major for this program. The Educational Policy Committee recommends this change to the Board of Trustees.
