Transportation and Logistics Flagship Program
Scholarship / Creative Works Produced through Flagship Funding

Listed below are the T&L-related scholarly works generated by the T&L faculty since the program was named a flagship. Those marked with an asterisk were directly supported at least in part by flagship funding, primarily through travel support. (WIP = work in process that is not yet accepted for publication.)

Refereed Journal Articles

2006 Gundlach, G. T., Yemisi A. Bolumole, R. A. Eltantawy and Robert Frankel, “The Changing Landscape of Supply Chain Management, Marketing Channels of Distribution, Logistics and

Conference Proceedings / Presentations

Near Future,” Second International Business Research Seminar co-sponsored by the CCB-UNF and Beijing International Studies University, University of North Florida, October 20, 2006.

Articles

Examing the Use of Supply Chain Information Technology in the Academy, CSCMP Supply Chain Comment TechKnowledge, Bolumole, Yemisi and David Cantor, November/December 2008, pg.16.