Dr. Lauren Boardman
UNF'S ONLINE NURSING PROGRAM DIRECTOR

DR. LAUREN BOARDMAN
UNF ONLINE NURSING PROGRAM DIRECTOR

Dr. Lauren Boardman earned her BSN from the Ohio State University, her MSN as a clinical nurse leader from Otterbien University, and her DNP from Dusquesne University. Upon graduating from OSU, she worked for 12 years as a critical care nurse at OSU’s research hospital. Dr. Boardman wanted to become a clinical nurse educator but fell in love with teaching while precepting students. UNF’s School of Nursing is proud that Dr. Boardman is the online nursing program director.

WHAT DREW YOU TO UNF?

“UNF was appealing because of the sense of community. I fell in love with the faculty during my second interview. UNF is large in that you will have access to many opportunities, but at the same time, you never lose the sense of family. That is what drew me to UNF and what I believe is one of the greatest benefits students gain when they attend UNF.”

WHAT MAKES UNF’S ONLINE NURSING PROGRAMS UNIQUE?

“We are in a great place with our online programs. We regularly hear affirming feedback from our community partners that we can and are catering our programs to the demands of the healthcare field. I’m excited to use these insights and to create additional programs that respond to the demands the healthcare field is telling us we need.”

HOW DO YOU APPROACH ENGAGING WITH STUDENTS AS AN ONLINE PROGRAM DIRECTOR?

“My number one way to engage with students is to let them know the (virtual) door is always open. I completed my master’s and doctorate online; being an asynchronous online leader can be challenging and I understand that. Course design and setup are very important. I strive to make sure students know when they enroll in a course, they will not be lost. In my courses, I like to build a sense of community so students don’t feel disconnected. I try to infuse group activities so students can attach names with faces and voices. I want our students to feel like they have had an inclusive campus experience without being on campus.”
