Important Reminders

- Non-required recitals are not allowed beyond Week 10 in the spring semester
- Room 1420 is recommended for MM lecture-recitals
- Summer recitals may only be presented with advanced permission of your committee. However, many dates may be unavailable due to heavy workshop and camp scheduling and summer classes.
- Special consideration may be given to percussion, jazz, and conducting recitalists for scheduling times and locations according to the specific requirements of their performances. These performers should bring their particular needs to the attention of the scheduling manager at their appointment time.
- No recital may be scheduled at the same time as a UNF large ensemble performance
- Recitals (required and non-required) may not be scheduled during finals week
- A student MAY NOT give a recital the final week of the semester in which s/he graduates.
- Students who change their recital date four weeks before their recital will charged a $50.00 fee for the rescheduled recital. Exemptions may be granted due to illness, injury, or other factors beyond a student’s control.
- Once the 4-week deadline has passed, the student is responsible for performing. The applied teacher may not intervene unless it is to demonstrate extenuating circumstances. If a recital is cancelled after the 4-week deadline and extenuating circumstances cannot be demonstrated, the recital is considered a failed recital. The final decision in such matters rests on Dr. Tinnin in conjunction with the appropriate Area Coordinator.
Recital date is not confirmed until the Student Recital Reservation Form has been submitted to Jim Clark with required signatures.
