The meeting was called to order at 1.05 after a quorum of voting members had arrived.

1. Election of 2009-2010 committee chair was postponed to allow all voting members to participate electronically – the vote is being requested on the e-mail conveying these minutes.
2. Yem Bolumole presented an APC to modify the MBA Logistics concentration and another APC to add a MBA Supply Chain concentration. After a discussion and friendly amendments – a single Logistics/Supply Chain concentration was agreed to in principle. Yem is to rewrite and the committee will electronically vote on the new proposed concentration once it has been prepared and submitted.
3. A recommendation to offer future GMBA cohorts their own section of MAN 6726, Strategic Management was discussed. Different Scenarios were discussed but no action was taken on the recommendation. It will be addressed in the future if the need clearly materializes.
4. Greg Gundlach led a discussion on the need to assess graduate courses that substituted e-learning for face time. Greg raised 17 or so questions that ranged from the strategic, i.e., why are we using e-learning, to the operational i.e., how are we measuring the effectiveness. The discussion brought out many perceived issues. The discussion was left open and will be continued into the future. The Graduate Curriculum Committee will ask the E-learning Committee to explain better what is going on through a joint meeting format that will be arranged by Saurabh Gupta at a future date this fall.

The meeting adjourned at 2.15 p.m.
