Total spaces:		8,294

* commuters include students, faculty & staff

Current faculty / staff only spaces = 525. Sales = 816 = 1.55 ratio.

Designated = 173. Sales = 319 = 1.84 ratio.

1st floor garages = 352. Sales = 497 = 1.41 ratio.

The Designated and 1st floor garages permit categories sold out almost at the same time in mid-August. Additional demand = about 30 for each category (from wait lists – likely more).

From lot counts Sept 19-23:

Most congested Designated is Thursday @ 2:15pm = only 10 available.

Selling 10 more would have resulted in a 1.90 ratio.

Most congested 1st floor garages is Tuesday @ 2:15pm = only 34 available.

Selling 34 more would have resulted in a 1.51 ratio

Most congested combined is Thursday @ 2:15pm = only 57 available.

Selling 57 total more would have resulted in a 1.66 ratio.

Note – most unlikely all additional sales would all use at once so still spaces available.

Recommendation for 2012-13 permit sales:

- Combine Designated and 1st floor garages permit categories into one permit "Faculty / Staff".
 - Sell the Faculty / Staff permit at a ratio of 1.60 to spaces available.

Return of lot 9 will provide about 50 more spaces = 575 (223 surface lot, 352 1st floor garages) for fall 2012.

Above recommendation would allow for about 920 "Faculty / Staff" permits to be sold to faculty and staff, 100+ more than current and 40 more than current documented demand.

- How does this affect students?
There would be no change to current Premium space allocation numbers but there would be 100+ less faculty / staff with Premium permits meaning more available to students.
- How does this accommodate the present concern of faculty and staff not being able to get a non-student permit after sell-out?
The issue still exists if sales hit 920. Current demand does not suggest this will happen but even though this is 100+ more than current, there are no guarantees.
- Why are there empty faculty / staff spaces despite raising the ratios from previous years?
While this is difficult to answer with all potential factors, it is a fact that many now with offices in UNF Hall and Alumni Hall have continued to purchase the faculty / staff only permits but are using them much less frequently to park in the core of campus than when their offices were in the core. It is also likely that more night-time adjuncts are buying these permits.

- Why not maintain the two separate permits and use ratios like the 1.90 and 1.51 noted?
This is a reasonable discussion topic and potential modification to the recommendation if the discussion so merits. The rationale for combining is that it provides many more spaces for the permit holder to have the ability to use. Also, for any category of permit, as total availability increases, a higher ratio can be manageable.

- Won't this mean everyone will crowd into the garage as a first choice making it more difficult to find a 1st floor garage space than currently or, conversely, won't this cause designated lots to fill quicker?

The Designated and 1st floor permits sold out at virtually the same time this year. Before these sold out, faculty and staff had the choice of either permit and the desires for category to park split appropriately. There is no reason to think those who have wanted to park in surface lots and those who have wanted to park in the garages would suddenly change their desires based on the allowance to park in these locations but the combined permit would make it possible to look to all these spaces during times when the first desire is not available.

- Aren't there too many areas to look to in order to find a space?

The current pattern of availability would suggest the first floor of the Fine Arts garage and lot 2 would be the place to look when arriving at the most congested times. This could change with the addition of spaces in lot 9. Where open spaces can be found should be evident fairly quickly in a term for those arriving during congested times. For the non-congested times, spaces are showing as available in all faculty / staff only locations.
