ISSUES IN SOUTHWEST ARCHAEOLOGY

SERIES EDITOR
John Kantner

ABOUT THE SERIES
Issues in Southwest Archaeology is dedicated to publishing volumes that critically evaluate current archaeological research in the U.S. Southwest and Northwest Mexico. The books consider topics that are pervasive themes both in the archaeology of the region but also in contemporary anthropological inquiry, such as ethnicity, gender, migration, and violence. Written by leading scholars in the field, the volumes discuss more than just what archaeologists know about the prehistory of the Southwest; they also consider issues that impact the practice of archaeology today, including the roles of cultural resource management, oral history, and cultural property rights. Each contribution to the series is guided by the research interests and theoretical perspective of the author, but each book is ultimately synthetic, comparative, and fully engaged in broader anthropological interests.

BOOKS IN THE SERIES
From Huhugam to Hohokam: Heritage and Archaeology in the American Southwest, by J. Brett Hill

Agricultural Beginnings in the American Southwest, by Barbara J. Roth

The Archaeology of Art in the American Southwest, by Marit K. Munson

Living Histories: Native Americans and Southwestern Archaeology, by Chip Colwell-Chanthaphonh

ABOUT THE EDITOR
John Kantner is professor of anthropology and associate vice president for Research and dean of the Graduate School at the University of North Florida.

If you are interested in submitting a proposal to the series, please contact
John Kantner at j.kantner@unf.edu or Kasey Beduhn at kbeduhn@rowman.com
To submit a manuscript for consideration by Lexington Books, please send:

- a prospectus (see below for details)
- a detailed table of contents
- one or two sample chapters
- your curriculum vitae

If you are proposing a contributed volume, please include titles, affiliations, and brief resumes for each of the contributors, as well as chapter abstracts.

The prospectus should include:

1. A description of the book, describing the core themes, arguments, issues, goals, and/or topics of the work, what makes it unique, what questions it seeks to answer, and why you are qualified to write it. (2-5 pages)
2. A description of your target audience (undergraduate or graduate students? scholars? professionals?).
3. An analysis of competing or similar books (including publishers and dates), indicating distinctive and original elements of your project that set it apart from these other works.
4. A list of courses in which your book might be used as a text or supplementary text, indicating the course level at which this book may be used.
5. An indication of whether any part of your manuscript has been published previously, and if it is a doctoral dissertation, what changes you are proposing to prepare it for publication.
6. The length of the manuscript either as a word count or a page count (12-point type on double-spaced 8.5”×11” pages). Will there be figures, tables, or other non-text material, and, if so, approximately how many? If the text is not complete, please still estimate its final length, not including the non-text material.
7. If the manuscript is not complete, an estimation of when it will be finished. Is there a particular date by which you hope the book will be published (due to a historical anniversary, conference, etc.)?
8. The names of four to seven respected scholars in your field with whom you have no personal or professional relationship. Include their titles, affiliations, e-mail addresses, and/or mailing addresses.
9. An indication of whether the manuscript is under consideration by other publishers.

Please do not send your entire manuscript. An acquisitions editor will contact you to request additional materials.